

Developing World/Sustainable Development

- Developing countries' (not all alike!) Biodiversity Informatics needs are very similar to those of developed nations
 - Free and open access to authoritative data
 - Workflows for decision making
 - Advice about existing tools and their applications
- Need to develop a set of global “benefits-of-use” cases
- Collaboration / capacity-building
- Developing countries can help developed country institution prioritize digitization projects